THE STORY SO FAR: The story et their part in the battle for the Philippines is being told by four of the five naval officers who are all that is left of Motor Torpede Bust Squadron J. They are Lieut. John Bulkeley (now Lieutenant Commander), squadron commander; Lieut. R. R. Kelly, second-in-command, and Ensigna Antheny Akers and George E. Cox Jr. After learning that Pearl Harber had been bembed, Lieut. Bulkeley ordered Lieut. Kelly to take three of the six torpedo boats to Balaan where they would get provisions and fuel from a submarine tender. But when they arrived, they found that the tender had been ordered away. So they set up headquarters in Sistman Cove.

CHAPTER II

"For the most part we lived on our boats—had to, because we never knew when we would have to haul out into the bay in case of a dive-bomber attack. Anyway we had a base again.
"Next, we found our barges loaded with gasoline in drums which had been towed out into the bay for us by the navy—if they got smacked by bombs, they didn't want them burning near the wharves. There was nobody in charge but a watchman. Each boat holds two thousand gallons, and of course it was a sand gallons, and of course it was a job pouring all that through a fun-nel.

'We noticed, as we poured, that this gas had both water and rust in it-yet there was no way to strain it out: we had no chamois. What we couldn't then know was, this gas had been sabotaged. We'll never find out when or where—the guy who did it is safe, if he's alive. But someone had dissolved wax in it wax which congenied inside our gas tanks in a coat half an inch thick— wax which clogged our filters so that sometimes we'd have to stop and clean them after an hour's run. That's the fuel we had to fight the war on, we were to find out.
"Then I went over to the section base to make arrangements for our food, and we got another bump. The navy already realized a food shortage was coming and cut us down to two rations a day—breakfast and supper. All you got for lunch was stomach cramps about oon. There was plenty of them.

"I also thought I'd better have the doctor look at my finger. I'd snagged it a few days before and hadn't paid much attention, but now it was swollen about as thick as a walnut. I guessed maybe it was minor strep infection. What I didn't know was that out East the strepto-cocci are bigger and meaner than bulldogs and not to be fooled with. He took one look and began to talk about the hospital, but I said the hell with that. I was the second officer of the squadron and badly needed.

"We settled that I'd come over to see this doctor daily.

"The big alarm came at noon on December 10—we'd pulled up along-side a mine sweeper for water when word came that a large flight of Jap planes was headed toward the Manila area, coming from the di-rection of Formosa. We pulled away from the tender, out into open wa-ter, and fifteen minutes later we

it was their first crack at the Japs.
I remember Chalker's face; he's a machinist's mate from Texarkana—a shootin' Texas boy. He was pouring out of that Manila break-using 50-caliber slugs up at them, cooler than a pall of cracked ice, but that long, straight, pointed jaw of his was set. Houllhan, who was firing the other pair of 50's, was the same. They'd picked out one plane and were pouring it up into the sky, when we saw the plane wobble, and pretty soon she took off down the bay, weaving unsteadily, smoking, and all at once, stwo or three miles away, she just wobbled down into the drink with a big splash. So we know the 35 boat got one. Meanwhile the 31 boat had shot down two more. After that the planes didn't bother strafing the MTB's. Guess the Jap pilots back at their Formosa base passed the word around.

The Marlinton Journal,

"We went on back to Cavite and offered to carry more wounded. The big base was one sheet of flame except for the ammunition depot. Only a piece of the dock was left, and through the shimmering flames you could see only jagged walls. Then we saw Admiral Rockwell—he was directing the fire apparatus which was trying to save the depot. He is a tall man, a fine figure of a sailor, but his head was down that day. In a dead voice he told us we'd better get out, that the magnine was like get out—that the magazine was lla-ble to go up any minute. "So we picked up from the gut-ters and streets a lot of cans of food we knew we would need—they were from the bombed warehouses— stacked them in the boat, and set out."

"I was back there a couple of days later after the fires were out," said Ensign Cox, a good-looking yellow-haired youngster from up-state New York. "They were burying the dead—which consisted of collecting heads and arms and legs and put-ting them into the nearest bomb crater and shoveling debris over it The smell was terrible. The Filipino yard workers didn't have much stomach for the job, but it had to be done and done quick because of disease. To make them work, they filled the Filipinos up with grain al-

"That raid gave me my first big shock of the war," said Lieutenant Kelly, "but it wasn't the damage they did. From over in Mariveles I couldn't see what was happening after the Jap bombers disappeared over the mountain. I got my shock after they had unloaded and flew over us on their way home—the same beautiful tight formations—not a straggler. Where was our air force?

By then I was beginning to learn that if we saw planes in the air, they would be Japs, not ours. Then came another formation of twenty-nine, and still another of twenty-nine, and still another of twenty-nine, and still another of twenty-nine. "If they were after shipping, we shouldn't get too close to the other boats, so I changed course. They wheeled majestically around the bay's perimeter, and each time they Passed Manila a load would go whistling down and presently huge columns of black and white smoke began rising—we could even see some fires, although we were still eleven miles away. miles away.

was that these big Jap formations, circling the bay like it was a parade maneuver, each time would sail impudently right over Corregidor! Didn't they know we had anti-air-craft guns?

"They knew all right, but it turned out they knew something I didn't. For presently all twenty of Corregidor's 3-inchers opened fire, and it made me sick to see that every one of their shells was bursting from their shells was bursting that. In made me sick to see that every one of their shells was bursting from 5,000 to 10,000 feet below that Jap formation. Those pilots were as safe as though they'd been home in bed. Later I found out what the Japs apparently already knew—that the Japs and the satisfactors of the satisfactor Rock's anti-aircraft guns didn't have the range. And only then did it be-gin to dawn on me how completely

When we reported, Commander Slocum told me the Ad-miral was considering sending our Commander Slocum told me the Admiral was considering sending our three boats on a raid off Lingayen, and were we ready? We said we were rarin' to go. So he said to stick around a couple of hours, and meanwhile to load the boats with files records and so faths has with files, records, and so forth, because they were moving headquarters. It had escaped so far, but right here on the water front it was too vulnerable — sure to get smacked. Through the open door we could see the Admiral conferring with his chief of staff.

"But just then," said Kelly, "Commander Slocum looked down at my arm, which was in a sling, frowned, and said I should get over to see the fleet doctor. The doctor took off the bandage and began to talk tough.

"I was dead set on that raid, but I decided it wouldn't be tactful to bring that up, so I said, 'Aye, aye, sir,' and skipped it. We loaded the boat with records, and then went back to headquarters, where we were told that the Jap convoy off Lingayen included eight transports and at least two battleships (one of and at least two battleships (one of these must have been the one that Colin Kelly later got), but that we weren't going to be sent. They were saving us for 'bigger things.'

HOW MUCH FOOD SHOULD YOU EAT?

You may think that food require-ments were measured in vitamina but before the discovery of vitamins the amount and kinds of food that should be eaten dai-by were measured in calories. A calorie is a measured amount of heat, that is, the amount of heat required to raise one kilogram of water (a little over two pounds) one degree centigrads (which is about 24 degrees Fahrenheit). Thus Fahrenheit). Thus the average diet was made up of one part protein—meat, eggs, fish, two parts fats—butter, cream, fat meats and four parts starches—bread, potatoes, fruits and vegetables. In calories this would mean about 400 of proteins, 800 of fats and 1,600 of vegetables and fruits daily for average man doing some work daily. This method of calorie measurement is still in use.

In an article on nutrition in the

In an article on nutrition in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Eugene F. DuBoia and William H. Chambers, New York city, state:

The amount of heat given off by the resting man of average size (at complete rest and no digestion go-ing on) is about equal to the heat of a 60-watt electric bulb or the flame of an alcohol lamp about one inch high. A man exercising hard equals the heat of 10 such lamps. As most of us are not at complete rest all of the time, nor are we working hard all the time, the amount of food needed will depend upon how much we rest and how hard we work. Thus one table of the number of calories needed by various trades is:

Men: Tailor, 2,600; bookbinder, 3,000; shoemaker, 3,100; cabinet-maker, 3,500 to 3,600; stone mason, 4,700 to 5,200; wood sawyer, 5,500 to 6,000. There are other trades such as moulders or foundrymen, stokers, molten metal workers and others where 6,000 calories are needed daily. ed daily. Women: Stenographer or office worker, 2,000 calories; seamstress with hand needle, 2,000; seamstress with machine, 2,100 to 2,300; book-binder, 2,100 to 2,300; household worker, 2,500 to 3,200; washer-women, 2,900 to 3,700.

Facts About Acne, Pimples

Although the various methods of treatment help many cases of acne (pimples), the actual cause of acne is not fully known. Because it occurs at or near the age of puberty, most physicians believe that acne is a some way connected with the in some way connected with the changes in the glands which causes boys and girls to emerge into men and women.

In the Journal of Clinical Endocrinology, Dr. Hamilton, Yale medical school, reports results in cases where he was able to bring on acne in certain individuals. He found that giving the hormone or extract of the male sex gland to boys who had not reached puberty, some of them developed blackheads, pimples, with and without pus formation. When the treatment with the sex borroors was storned the interest borroors. sex hormone was stopped, the pim-ples became smaller and disap-peared. When given again, the pimples returned.

This does not mean that this gland extract is the only factor entering into the cause of acne as diet, heredity, and infection may also be factors. However, despite other factors, the pimples appeared only when the sex hormone was given. "There seems to be something in this male hormone substance that in this male hormone substance that stimulates the sebaceous or oil glands of the skin."

For this reason, Dr. Hamilton suggests that as there is some relation between the thyroid gland-the master gland of the body-and the sex glands, there is logical reason for glands, there is logical reason for the use of desiccated thyroid gland extract in cases of acres of the line extract in cases of acres of the line Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard extract in cases of acne at the time of puberty. The thyroid extract checks any excess of oil pouring out from the oil glands on the skin and stimulates the skin cells to a more normal activity. The thyroid exeases and therefore the skin. Ex-cellent results have been obtained by using viosterol by mouth and also by the use of injections of pitui-tary extract. As with all extracts, this should be done under supervialon of a physician.

It dnick, of lows State College, of a new method which makes it possible for the rural homemaker to wash her securator in only two minutestous in interest a day. The best separator cleaning method used up to now takes at least six times as long, to say nothing of the drudgery involved.

The new method makes use neither of soap nor washing powder, Instead, it utilizes a "wetting agent" compound of the variety that have become so popular recently with housewives for many kitchen and bathroom chores. The wetting agent compound—and there are any number on the market—not only radically cuts down the time required to clean the separator but also does a much better job of cleaning than has been achieved heretofore. The new washing procedure calls for no special equipment, and requires only special equipment, and requires only one pail of warm water solution which is also used to wash the pails, cans and other dairy equipment.

TRAINING:

TRAINING:
For Postwar Youth

The idea that the youth of America, making use of industrial plants and military camps might well give a year's service to their government in the postwar era was advanced by President Roosevelt.

Declaring that his recent inspection trip of war activities had convinced him that the armed forces and the home front factories are in their stride, the President said he was wondering what could be done after victory is won, with camps and plants in which millions have been invested. While he had no specific program to offer, he emphasized the benefits in physical condition and mental alertness that men and women in service and war-worker uniforms had realized in the last few months. He indicated he thought their training should be extended to all young men and women in some form after we win the war. all young men and women in some form after we win the war.

Blunt had been President Roose-velt's warning to John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, to end the tie-up in the nation's soft coal fields.

The need for blunt action, how-ever, had been clearly evident, for even at the moment the Presi-dent had threatened to use his powers as commander in chief to pre-vent interference with the war effort, 75,000 miners already were on strike and a walkout of the entire 450,000 bituminous miners had been threatened.

Essential Shifts OK

As the War Manpower commission extended its employment stabilization program to the entire nation, workers anywhere in the United States were permitted to shift from one essential job to another at higher pay, provided such transfers "enhance the war effort."

Freviously such job shifts could take place only in 70 areas covered by the WMC's regional stabilization programs. The commission's action was taken after representatives of organized labor had protested that lob transfers under the former regulations favored workers in the stabilization areas at the expense of workers in other regions.

Territorial differences came to the fore as the principal issue at stake in the Polish-Soviet controversy, although the break in diplomatic relations had been caused by a demand of the Polish government-inexile for an investigation of the alleged massacre by Russians of 10,000 Polish troops in the Smolensk region.

The Poles demand a return of the eastern part of the territory they ruled before their 1939 collapse. The Russians who took this land over, and were in turn routed by the 1941 German invasion, say that the land is historically theirs.

Postwar View Bright

A potential era of "unparalleled prosperity" faces the United States as soon as the war ends, the department of commerce reported.

"The major potentials," the report said, "will be present the day after victory is won—employment on an unprecedently high level, the greatest productive plant of all time, national income at a peak hardly dreamed of in pre-war years, with a large accumulated savings and an unmeasured demand for goods denied to the consumer by the war's exactions."

One "hig problem," the department asserted, is to prepare now to so manage these factors as to translate potentials into realities, adding that this is "primarily the job of private enterprise, added and supported by government."

Some days ago the British short wave radio, beamed on Germany, was telling the German people, who dared to listen to the forbidden was telling the German people, who dared to listen to the forbidden words, that if their armies used gas against the Russians, the British would retallate and paralyze the German cities with gas bombs from the air. Just about that same hour, I was entering the Army and Navy club in Washington with a short, vigorous, bright-eyed general, whose mental agility makes up for his lack of length. It was no coincidence. I was there to learn something more about chemical warfare and I knew of no better way than to pump Brig. of no better way than to pump Brig. Gen. Alden H. Waitt of the chemical warfare service and whose book "Gas Warfare" has sold out twice in Washington book stores.

There was, however, a coincidence connected with that visit, for as we walked into the great, crowded dining room of the club, Waitt paused ing room of the cino, want pauseur to speak to a gray-haired man in civilian clothes with a ribbon in his buttonhole. I recognized a once-familiar figure—Amos Fries, first general of the chemical warfare service. He, of course, is retired now.

I recalled that shortly after the I recalled that shortly after the First World war, the activities of General Fries got under some people's skins. He was a hyper-enthusiast over his specialty, and in the reaction against all things military which comes after a war, the cynics used to joke about the stenographer who transcribed her symbols so that a letter was sent addressed to the "comical" warfare service.

New Emphasis

But Fries persisted and managed to preserve his unit in a tight little independent group instead of having its activities scattered all over the other services. As far as the public goes, very little attention has been paid to this arm of our military offense and defense. It may, howoffense and defense. It may, how-ever, become very prominent be-fore the war is over and some people say that day is "imminent."

If gas comes, the United States will be prepared for it. From an organization with 94 officers in the thirties, the chemical warfare service has grown until its officer per-ice has grown until its officer per-sonnel numbers "many thousand" (I can't reveal the figure) and many of them are with combat troops to-day where they are responsible for the use of smoke screens and for the use of smoke screens and for incendiaries—the fire bombs and the flame throwers.

I have witnessed demonstrations at the Edgewood arsenal near Balti-more, and although I cannot report more, and although I cannot report the details, I can say that some of the effects were remarkable. You ought to see a steel tank or a con-crete pillbox go up in flames when it is "lighted" by a flame thrower. It is unbelievable to watch.

It is unbelievable to watch.

There have been, of course, many developments in this little-discussed weapon of warfare since gas was first used in World War I by the Germans and used so successfully and yet so stupidly. The attack took the British and French colonial troops utterly by surprise and caused what amounted to a rout. If the Germans had had the sense to follow it up, they could have broken through the lines and reached Calais.

Exploiters Not Wanted

States is so gigantic that it dwarfs imagination. Production of a ton of steel requires two tons of coal. In 1942, it required the coking of 75, 000,000 tons of coal to smelt 60,000. The mining industry of the United 000,000 tons of steel ingots is expected in 1943.

It takes 7 tons of copper for one minute of combat by 50 fighter planes ,and this means from 200 to 700 tons of copper ore. Other metals are used in proportions.

But coal is required to produce the heat to make most of them usable. It is the major source of energy in the United States. The railroads used $110,000,000 tons of coal in 1942; public utilities, 68,000,000 tons; and 135,000,000 tons went for necessary heating comfort.

There is no excuse for continuous labor warfare in our coal mines.

Neither the public nor the majority of the employers want to exploit the wars for centuries, namely, the greed of a few leaders for unreasonable power, is causing trouble in our coal mines. The few who would exploit a governent, a mine or a group of workers for selfish purposes, are the ones who cause the millions of ordimary citizens, including the miner themselves, unnecessary loss, grief and suffering.

It is time that dictatorship in either labor, industry, or government

To Our Savings Depositors:

Due to a great reduction in our loans and the decrease in demand for sound loans and the very low yield in Government and other high grade bonds of reasonable maturity, which make desirable bank investments, we have found it necessary to reduce the interest rate on savings deposits to one and one-half (11/2%) per cent per annum, effective on JUNE 1, 1943. Our action is in conformity with sound banking practice.

We regret that conditions over which we have no control make necessary this change. The business which you have entrusted to us through the past forty-four years is appreciated, and we invite you to continue to make use of our facilities for all your banking requirements.

THE STORY SO FARI, The story of their part in the bails for the Philippines is being told by four of the Rve naval effects who are all that is left of Motor Torpedo Boal Squadroo 2. They are Lieut. John Hulkeley (now Lieutenant Commander), squadron commander, and commander Lieut. R. B. Kelly, second-in-command; and Ensigns Anthony Akers and George E. Cox Jr. After Pearl Harbor, Lieut. Hulkeley orders Lieut. Kelly to take three of the boats to Bataan, where they sat up headquarters. Kelly has a badly grahed finger, but doesn't dare take time to go to the hospital, as things are moving feas. During the first big air raid the PT boats shot down three Jap dive bombers. Kelly is speaking.

CHAPTER III

"When Bulkeley got back he took one look at me and ordered me to the hospital at Corregidor. But when we got there they told us that beautiful big modern one-thousand-bed hospital had been abandoned. There it was, I don't know how much it had cost, as useless to us as a Buddhist monastery. The patients had all been moved down into one hundred beds in one of the tunnels in the Rock. I wasn't so delirious that I couldn't figure out why. Because with no aircraft or anti-aircraft protection, that big expensive topside hospital was just an unprotected target.

"But the thing that impressed me most—even then—was the army nurses. There were fourteen of them on the Rock, and remember, I hadn't talked to a white woman since we sailed from the States. Heretofore, I hadn't paid much attention to women, but somehow the war and everything made a big difference.

"Or maybe it was Peggy herself, because she was a very cute kid. A brunette about medium height and very trim, but mostly it was her green eyes, I guess, and a cute way she had of telling you very firmly what you had to do, so that you grinned, but just the same you did it. She started right in bossing me around while she helped cut off my shirt.

"The whole army was listening in," said Bulkeley. "Don Bell, that Manila radio announcer who they say was shot by the Japs the first day they entered the city, was always encouraging. And even more so was KGEI from the American west coast, telling us we wouldn't be forgotten, that the people knew we were putting up a magnificent fight."

fight."

"It came at eleven at night," Bulkeley went on. "I had my three boats out there by 11:30. Funny thing, that old ship had been an aircraft carrier in the battle of Juliand-first boat ever to launch a plane in actual battle. She survives the whole German Imperial fleet and more than twenty years later ends up on an American mine halfway round the world.

that hadn't been properly filled—and that hadn't been properly filled—and here he was.

"The next time the skipper here dropped in on me, he said that was the dope he was getting—that we had only six P-40's left. Soon it got down to two; we called 'em the Phantom and the Lone Ranger.

"And I said, 'My God, what's going to happen to us?' "
"I told him I didn't know," said Bulkeley, "but that I'd been talking to the Admiral, who'd said that we couldn't possibly hope to hold the Philippine Islands, that Singapore and Hong Kong would fall too, unless help arrived—and soon. And probably the Dutch East Indies."

"Well, that floored me," said Kelly. "So I asked him how they were going to use the MTB's—wouldn't they let us go out on any offensive missions? He said he'd been trying to get the Admiral to let him go to Lingayen Gulf on a raid. Eighty Jap transports were up there landing troops, and our coastal batteries were having to fall back because of Jap air superiority—Jap fighters diving on the batteries and machinegunning them until no one could take it.

"Then I asked the skipper how gunning them until no one could take it.

"Then I asked the skipper how the infantry was holding. Not worth a damn,' he said. "The strafing is just cutting them to ribbons. Not only that, but the Japs are landing tanks—a hell of a lot of automatic weapons which are just what we need and haven't got." By the time he left, I was as low as he was.

"That night Peggy, who was on night duty, got a few minutes off about one o'clock to come in and shoot the breeze with me. She'd been picking up a lot of stuff, and she said a bunch of our tank-corps boys had just been brought in. She told me what they'd been telling her, and finally said she guessed it wouldn't hurt if I went in and lay down for half an hour on an empty bunk next to them, so I could hear o't myself.

"They'd walked two hundred kilometers barefoot. Four tankloads of them had been sent in to head off them had been sent in to head off a Jap landing near Batangas—they were to go ahead of four columns of infantry and pave the way for infantry and pave the way for retaking a little fishing village held by a small Jap force.

by a small Jap force.

"The boys said their major had assured them the Japs had nothing bigger than 50-caliber machine guns —of course their armor would stop that. So they started on in, when all of a sudden—Bam! The Japs had waited until they got within good range, and then opened up with an anti-tank gun which knocked the doors off the lead tank, and then, because the road was too narrow for the rest to turn around on, they knocked the treads off all the others except one.

"Well, then what did you do?"
I asked the kids.
"'Fired about two hundred rounds of 50-caliber and four rounds of 37-millimeter cannon."
"'Which way were you should all.

"'Well, then what did you do?' I asked the kids.
"'Fired about two hundred rounds of 50-caliber and four rounds of 37-millimeter cannon.'
"'Which way were you shooting?' it all happened so fast we couldn't tell where the Jap fire was coming from. At the end of five minutes, three of those tanks ended up in the rice paddy—they were fourteenton light tanks—two of them with the doors blown off, and in one of these, the Jap machine-gun fire had cut the legs off the lieutenant in command. The others were riddled with holes. Our tank was the only one that wasn't hurt.'
"'So what did you do?"
"Tried to turn it around and get the hell out of there. But the road was too narrow, and then the tank got stuck in reverse, and ended up on its side in the rice paddy.'
"What did the infantry do?"
"Ran like rabbits."
"Didn't they have any suns?"
"Only rifes—not a machine gun in the crowd. Maybe they didn't have anything else to give them, and sunything else to give them that anyway the major and all they would final up these was rifes, and if has were any Jap machine gun in the coin of this world.

Simon Magus wanted this power to improve his business as a magician. He made a very gross proposal, but one wonders whether he was any more to be censured than many in the Church today who are doing the same thing, though by more cultured and skillful methods. Not only are there those who are trying to buy their own way into heaven, but also those who by hold-ing the purse strings, try to control or sanizations?

Their efforts are doomed to ultimate failure—God will see to that!—but in the meantime they do much harm to the cause of Christ. Many a church and pastor would like to rise up and say with Peter, "Thy money perish with thee."

III. Spiritual Life and Power Should read to the search and should be said they went back to Jerusalem by permit to many in the clurch today who are the church today who are there those who by hold-ing its first every any sone proposal was to buy their own way into the coin of the purse.

PETER AND JOHN PREACH TO SAMARITANS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 8:14-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Lift up your eyes, and sok on the fields; for they are white already to harvest—John 4:35.

The Church as it grows has prob-lems, and so God calls leaders to serve Him in meeting and settling them for His glory and the good of the Church.

the Church.

Philip had gone to Samaria (as a result of the first persecution of the Church) and there he had been used of God to bring many to faith in Christ. Now that the new groups of believers needed guidance and instruction, Peter and John were sent to help them (v. 14).

A proper understanding of and at-

A proper understanding of, and at-titude toward, God's gracious gift of salvation is of first importance. New converts must recognize that it is a gift: that it cannot be carned or bought, and that it issues in a life of service and testimony.

All three of these matters are covered in our lesson.

I. Spiritual Life and Power Is God's Gift to Believers (vv. 14-17).

God's Gift to Believers (vv. 14-17).

The Holy Spirit was received by these early members of the Church by the laying on of the apostles' hands, but later He came directly into the believer's heart the moment he had faith in God. This is now our blessed privilege, and the provision for our every need as followers of Christ, to recognize the indwelling Holy Spirit.

What a glorious truth it is that the dwelling Holy Spirit.

What a glorious truth it is that the believer is indwelt by the Holy Spirit, He who is a divine person, not just a power or influence (I Cor. 6:19). Thus every believer, including the humblest as well as the greatest, has in him the One who gives spiritual life and power, who gives grace for holy living, and empowers for service.

The greatest power in all the

The greatest power in all the world—the power of the infinite God -is thus available to every true and yielded believer, as God's free gift.

Gone then is all boasting of our own strength, and gone are all excuses for weak and careless living. The power and grace are His, and He gives them to us as His gift. Christian friend, are you allowing the Holy Spirit who dwells in you, to infill and use you as He will?

II. Spiritual Life and Power Cannot Be Bought by Works or Money (vv. 18-24).

Men of this world are so used to putting their trust in money that they come to think that one can buy anything. To them every man and every desirable thing must have its price. Let us be clear that there are men who cannot be bought, and that the best things in life bear no price tag. A mother's love, friendprice tag. A mother's love, friend-ship, fellowship with God—priceless they are, but not for sale.

Above all let it be clear that eternal life, and the power of God the Holy Spirit, cannot be gained by piling up good works, nor by payment in the coin of this world.

conditions the form of the Word of the Lord in many of their villages.

One of the great hindrances to the carrying out of the great commission has been that Christians have received spiritual life, and even spiritual pawer, as though it were something for their own gratification or conduct. God saven as to serve him as bestimany and in 150.

The Huly Spirit does not speak of Himsait. He guiden the believer in all truth (John 18-11), particularly the truth regarding Christ. The Spirit his truth regarding Christ. The Spirit life is follows them that the Spirit life is follows them that the Spirit life is follows them that the Spirit life is follows. The Huly Spirit and and spirit life is name. Under the new plan students en-tering the first of June will complete the regular four-year course of eight semesters by February, 1946, thus saving nearly a year and a half time. This saving is made possible by utilizing three summers that ordinarily are vacation periods. A full semester of work will be given in a summer period.

The work under the new set-up will be practically the same as hith-erto given except that the shop and field courses usually given for five weeks in the summer following the freshman or sophomore year will be mitted.

Dean R. P. Davis of the College of Engineering urges all high school graduates who are planning to enter the College of Engineering this fall to enroll on May 31 to start their freshman first semester's work. However freshman students will be ad-mitted in the fall, but some difficulties may be encountered in arrang ing schedules, due to the fact that some first semester courses may not be repeated the second semester.

RUSSIA: Nazi Setbacks

Hammering at the northeast approaches to Nazi-held Novorossisk, Russian forces had captured numerous towns, including Krymskaya and killed 10,000 German troops in a smash through the Kuban delta bulge of the Caucasus toward the Black sea.

Although the Axis forces were weakened by the break-through, Hit-ler had been preparing for weeks for action by bringing up fresh troops, tanks and munitions.

The capture of Krymskaya had two strategic benefits. It placed the Red army in a position to seriously menace Novorossisk and it enabled the Russians to cut the German-held railroad between Novorossisk and Protoka, 36 miles northeast of the port. Significant was a Soviet report announcing the presence of powerful Russ naval units in the Black sea, led by the flagship "Paris Com-mune." This sea force was await-ing an opportunity to pounce on any German attempt to evacuate troops from the Caucasus.

While not entirely satisfactory, Mr. Davis said, the farm machinery and supply situation for 1943 recently has been improved. He revealed that the War Production board has agreed to permit an increase in farm machinery production from 23 to 40 per cent of the 1940 level and an increase in repair parts to 160 per cent of the 1940-41 average. To enable Bill to have a job means an investment of $8,000 in tools, including factory building and other essentials of production. Bill did not have $8,000, and others had to provide the tools which made Bill's job possible. It was the American capitalistic system that provided the tools.

For each man who has a job in an American factory, there is an average of $8,000 invested in the average of $8,000 invested in the tools and buildings which make a job possible. It means a total investment of something like 480 billion dollars. That is America's working capital which provides jobs for our 60 million workers. If we make it impossible for capital to provide the tools, we take away the jobs that support workers and their families. That is what we are doing right now. The war will be over some day and then new tools must be proday and then new tools must be provided to replace those used in war production. With government taking out of industry all industry can earn, leaving nothing with which to provide new tools, Bill Jones, and his co-workers, will be without jobs. We will have won a war and lost a peace. We will have destroyed the American system of free enterprise.

As the tempo of American activity on the foreign fronts moves with an accelerated beat, it is pleasing to note that a lot of red tape in Washington is being rolled up and chucked into official wastebaskets. One example is what the air corps is trying to do to utilize every ounce of human and material resource that is available.

When war comes, there is always a sharp cross current of human emotions—the good old one of self-preservation, and the equally old and much better one, from the standpoint of the nation, of patriotism. And, for opposite reasons but with the same result, both meet with obstacles. Many injustices occur in the selection of men for military service. Many ardent and valuable men are stopped from rendering the service of which they are capable and which they are anxious to furnish. Red tape is the answer. But red tape is bound to tangle any herculean effort when a peaceful nation turns into a belligerent.

Drab Duties

The latest step in removing the service of the latest step in removes with an account of the latest step in removing the service of which they are appaceful nation turns into a belligerent.

Drab Duties

Drab Duties

The latest step in removing the red tape that was holding back a lot of valuable human power was the absorption of the Civil Air Patrol by the air corps. As this is written, the decision is being made as to which administrative group will take over this body of patriotic fliers who have been furnishing their own planes and their own services, unsung and unhonored. Most of their duties have been drab, and in many cases, stullifying because of their indefinite, quasi-military status. They are not a part of the air corps. Another important step forward is now being gradually absorbed into the air corps, too.

They are not a part of the air corps.

Another important step forward is also under way which will bring that group of unselfish young men into active service after months of morale-breaking waiting—I refer to the Civilian Pilot trainees, most of whom are now sure of active duty as instructors or flying cadets. They, too, have worked without compensation other than subsistence, and have sacrificed time, earning capacity and opportunity to continue their normal civilian careers. They are now being gradually absorbed into the air corps, too.

Few people in the country outside of the families of the members are familiar with either the Civil Air Patrol, the student pilots of the War Training program or even that other group of a million and a half volun-teers who make up the aircraft warning service.

The Civil Air Patrology in the control of the civil Air Patrology in the civil A

The Civil Air Patrol received some publicity for its important part in offshore duty in the campaign which stopped the submarine activities off the eastern coast of the United States. These men were pilots who owned their own planes, took their special training and received only gasoline and a small fee for depreciation while on active duty. The Civil Air Patrol received some

Spotters for 'Tough Guys'

They are a vital link in that chain of air and surface guardians who watched our waters from Maine to They could spot a sub, immediately report it to the nearest immediately report it to the nearest bomber or a fast coast guard or naval vessel. Some of the civilian planes were equipped with light bombs but they were not able to make much use of them because their planes were slow and a sub on their planes were slow and a sub on the surface could spot them as quickthe surface could spot them as quick-ly as they could spot the sub and crash dive. That can be done in seven or eight minutes and since visibility may extend 15 miles, the sub could hit bottom before the pilot could get over his target. Their chief function was to play bird-dog for the "tough suys" carrying heavfor the "tough guys" carrying heav-

Civil Air Patrol did invaluable but less romantic service in carrying vital machine parts between factories. It is now possible that some of these men and women in the interior of the country who have been making uninteresting overland flights from here to these may set a white making uninteresting overland flights from here to there may get a whift of sea air, too. In any case, the red tape between them and the air command has been severed.

If not technically, at least practically, "they're in the army now." As to the boys in the CPT war training program, who have been warming henches and waiting at nothing per diem, a bill in congress

Meals on a Dish

We've heard a lot about hot meals in a casserole that take care of the main course of a meal. But how about cool meals served on a sin-gle attractive platter that are most of the time,

A daily dose of 60 to 90 grains of acetylsalicylic acid, depending on size of the patient, was given at first sign of sore throat (pharyngitis) where examination of organisms in the throat were the kind that cause rheumatism. This treatment was continued for one month. most of the time, at least, made up shead of time? This is one of the very nice things about summer menu planning for foods lend themselves to this kind of serving.

Recently I saw a very attractive platter that was cool, complete and colorful—that any one of you could whip up at short notice. An individual tomato aspic filled with creamed cottage cheese served on a large green glass salad plate was banked by several tiny finger sandwiches, a slice of tongue with horseradish sauce, deviled eggs, a small mound of potato salad and a sprig of watercress. Serve this with coffee or tea and a dish of sherbet or ice cream. Bread with filling forms an interesting base for this salad-sandwich.

Forty-seven young rheumatic patients received this "preventive" treatment and only one developed rheumatic fever. Of 139 rheumatic patients who were not given this treatment, 57 developed rheumatic fever and 82 did not. These figures tell their own story; only one of the 47 who took the treatment developed rheumatic fever, that is about 2 per cent, and of the 139 who did not take this treatment, 57 developed rheumatic fever, that is more than Bread with filling forms an inter-esting base for this salad-sandwich loaf and looks very pretty enclosed in rosy aspic. The fillings, ham and cheese, classic flavor combina-tions, won't cut into your points heavily, nor will the tomato juice:

A few years ago I had the feeling that if I had the time and the pa-tience necessary I would like to try to investigate the cause of epilepsy and try to give these patients and their families relief from this dis-tressing allment. At that time the treatment was careful dieting and the use of bromides to quiet the pa-tient. The bromides did quiet the patient and did give considerable help in cutting down the number of attacks or making them lighter.

I believed that eating certain foods had something to do with epilepsy because I had been able to keep one patient free of attacks for over a pass by washing out his stomach

Then came the knowledge that cut-ting down on starch foods, eating more fat foods, and the use of the tarbital drugs would keep the ma-jorny of epileptics practically free

Still later came the use of dilantin m to replace the harbital drugs, and, despite the fact that some physicians report serious reactions from dilating sodium in some cases, it would appear that dilatin sodium is

BIBLE TEACHINGS ON WINE'S DECEITFULNESS

LESSON TENT-Proverts 20:1; 23:20-36; Multiwe 34:45-51; GOLDEN TEXT-At the last it blich this a separt, said stingern like an adder-Proverts 20:32.

Deceitful is a good word to describe both the product and the propagands of the liquor business. Alcoholic beverages are in themselves most deceitful, and the methods by which they are sold to the public certainly cannot commend themselves to right-thinking people. Intoxicants are associated with social preferment, testive occasions, radiant beauty, when they ought to be connected with the bleary eye, the babbling tongue, the ragged children and brokenhearted mothers. What about the men who have lost their positions and their characters, and the women who have paid with their virtue for their love of intoxicants? Why not picture them in the beautiful magazine advertisements?

I. Wine Is a Deceiver (Prov. 20:1).

I. Wine Is a Deceiver (Prov. 20:1). Wine is personified here as an evil demon who leads men on in the hope of some pleasure or advantage, and then lets him down to the depths of destruction. It makes him think he is great and powerful, when he is only weak and degraded. It excites him to foolishness and wild boisterousness, when he would normally be sensible, quiet and orderly. He who thought he was wise in partaking of its stimulation, finds himself deceived, and to his regret he realizes that he is a fool in the hands of a malicious deceiver.

II. Wine Is a Deprayer (Prof. 23: I. Wine Is a Deceiver (Prov. 20:1).

II. Wine Is a Depraver (Prof. 23:

Depravity is a word not used as much as it was a generation ago, but it well describes the condition to which the drunkard comes in due time. And it is wine and other liquor which has depraved or corrupted him. A number of things appear in the text.

1. Liquor Destroys (vv. 29, 30). This is true morally, mentally, physically, and spiritually, Red eyes, physically, and spiritually. Red eyes, wounds, complaining—these are only the outward signs of inward physical destruction of alcohol. Woe and sorrow speak of mental and social distress. The moral and spiritual destruction follow. destruction follow.

2. Liquor Deludes (vv. 31, 32). Its color, its sparkle and effervescence, its smooth appearance—all excite the anticipation of goodness and pleasure. And what does the drinker receive? The bits of the servent and the sting of the adder. serpent and the sting of the adder.

3. Liquor Demoralizes (v. 33).
Alcohol is the handmaiden of immorality, "Strange women" come into the plcture very quickly. They and the drinker soon find that drink sets them free from the limitations. sets them free from the limitations of decency and good sense, and the result is beyond description.

Those who defend liquor, or temporize with this problem, may as well recognize that they are encouraging the moral destruction of our boys and girls. It is a terrifying responsibility!

4. Liquor Dulls Man's Senses and 4. Liquor Dulls Man's Senses and Dazes Man's Mind (vv. 34, 35). Only a fool would lie down to sleep in the midst of the sea, or on top of the mast of a ship, or in the gutter, or against a lamp post. That's what drink does for a man. drink does for a man.

His perceptions become so dull that he can be beaten, and he does not know he has been hurt. Exposed to inclement weather, he knows not enough to seek shelter. His money is lost or given away without concern on his part.

And when he seeks up whet

And when he sobers up—what then? His faculties are so dazed that he can think of only one thing to do, and that is to seek more wine. What is it that Scripture says about the dog and the fool? (See Prov. 26:11). III. Wine Is a Destroyer (Matt.

We have already touched on that point in its personal application, but now we see it in its bearing on his occupation and standing in the com-The contrast is between the good servant who recognizes that his one and constant obligation is to serve, whether his master is present or absent, and the evil servant who vio-lates his trust.

Notice that his first thought after cruelty to his fellow servants is to satisfy his appetite "to drink with the drunken."

Cruelty, mismanagement, unfaith-fulness are tied up without question with drinking. Is it not so today? If you doubt it, read your daily newspaper. Why triffe with any-thing which keeps such evil com-pany? You may find yourself mixed up with them beyond your shility to get free.

The final result is the less of his position and of his life. Who will show that this apily states the end of the drumhard's way. But some one says: "I do not intend to be a drumhard. I only take a moral drumh." That is the way the drumhard strong among that to travel that rough?

how badly the war was going for us. A member of the tank corps is speaking.

CHAPTER IV

"What happened to your tank?"
"We were lying on our side in that paddy, and the Japs would come over and look at us. We played possum in there all day. They tried to open our door with bayonests, but we had it locked. In the afternoon a Jap officer looked at us through the alots—all of us lying still, holding breath, and then he said, in English, "They're all dead."
"But we figured it was a trick—kept right on playing possum and, sure enough, in about an hour they came back for another look. But we were lying in exactly the same positions. This time they gave a few disgusted grunts and walked off. About an hour after dark we listened carefully, and then unlocked our door. Sure enough, they'd gone, so we beat it for the road."

"Tell me what became of your shoes,' I asked him. I couldn't figure how an experienced soldier would ever let himself get separated from his shoes. The kid grinned sheepishly. I guess that was a damn-fool trick,' he said. 'You see it had been hotter than hell in that tank, and we were all dirty and tired and sweaty, so we decided to take a bath in a creek just across the rice paddy. But we had to go through mud to get there, so, keeping our clothes on until we got to the water hole, we took off our shoes and hid them in the tall grass. But when we got back we hunted for several hours, and we couldn't find that grass clump. Finally we started on, barefooted."

"But where were the Japs?"

"They'd gone on shead toward Manilla. The next night we were resting by the roadside. We heard a noise behind us, so we scooted low in the bushes by the side of the road, and saw more of them go by on bicycles—all headed toward Manilla. It seemed to be a Jap reconnaissance patrol, because behind them came trucks and guns and infantry, going by in the dark—so close we could have reached out and touched them. If we'd had a machine gun, we could have wiped out several hundred, but we only had our 45's. They kept up most of that night—one group stopped and ate chow on the road bank opposite us; we we were scared stiff they'd come over and find us. It was hard for the wounded to lie quiet. Our tank driver had a rivet stuck in his throat—every time he took a drink, the water would come leaking out—and the radio operator's arm was and the radio operator's arm was full of shrapnel from an exploding bullet. The rest of us were okay, but our feet were getting damned sore.

"At dawn we stopped by a native village to collect some shoes, but their feet were all too small."

their feet were all too small."

"How'd they treat you?"

"Fine—gave us all the food we could eat, but you could see they didn't want us around. Afraid the Japa would find us hiding there and shoot them too. You couldn't blame fine natives. So we got out, and spent the other six days of the trip sleeping in ditches or brush clumps, walking nights."

"Were the wounded weak?"

walking nights."
"Were the wounded weak?"
"Sure, and so were we. The tank driver with the hole in his throat wanted to stop—said for us to leave him he shelped. We were afraid the Japa would get him and we couldn't space him a gon—we had only three his first the six of us."

S's for the siz of tie."

"What did you do, carry him?"

"Reil, no. We gave him a 45, taid how ha'd better use it now if he wasn't coming with is. So he alterned his missel, and decided to come on. He made it, too. But it had planty of gate."

Notes of them leaked that." Here Kelly should his head. "Bornetimes in anding, other equipment, but naver gate.

"They'll be along,' I'd say,
'Any day now.'
"'Hell,' they'd say disgustedly,
'We won't see them for six months.'

" 'Suppose we don't,' I'd say. 'This place can last six months, Wasn't it built like Malta and Gibraltar—to withstand siege?'

place can last six months, washit built like Maita and Gibraltar—to withstand siege?'

"Only pretty quick I began to find out how wrong I was. Corregidor had been built years ago, and then we'd sgreed not to modernize if the Japs didn't medernize the Carolines. We kept the agreement; they didn't. Anyway, ammunition and provisions were so short the Rock would be doing good to hold out three months.

"A few days after that the nurses in my ward were buzzing around—I heard some talk about a party they were giving in their quarters that evening, inviting their boy friends, who for the most part were young army officers stationed on the Rock. And I almost fell out of my cot that afternoon when Peggy, in a seemingly offhand way, asked me if I'd like to go. It was nice, of course, to be chosen, by the girl I liked best, out of 10,999 other men on that Rock, most of whom would have given an ear just to talk to a white girl. But it got me to thinking, too. I liked her, but the other girls had sald there was a young medical officer she'd been dating pretty steady—and what the hell was I? A naval officer in an army hospital—here today, gone tomorrow—so I "Sure enough, in about an hour they came back for another look." hadn't let myself get started think-ing-or tried not to, anyway.

"Naturally, I said sure I wanted to go. So Peggy said she'd see if she could fix it with the doctor. And after she got through with him, he was certain it would do me good, if I was back in the ward by ten.

was certain it would do me good, if I was back in the ward by ten.

If "Here in Newport maybe you wouldn't think it was much of a party. But it was a swell night, with a big moon hanging over Manila Bay—peaceful—and best of all, the girls and broken out with their civilian dresses. That doesn't sound like much, but one look at them after seeing nothing but uniforms for months was like a trip back home. Makeup too—they looked so damned nice you could eat them with a spoon, and Peggy had put just a touch of perfume in her hair—anyway if it wasn't that, it was something, What did we do? Well, danced to a portable—I'll bet we played 'Rose of San Antone' a dozen times—and Peggy and I figured out a way we could dance with my arm in a sing. And afterward we sat out on the grass and talked. I remember someone saying, 'You think they'll ever bomb this place!' Of course we knew eventually they would, but that night the war seemed a thousand miles away. Only sumebody spoiled it all by asking Peggy when this mostical officer was getting back from Balasa, and she said she thousand the said and I was to the thought temestow.

"Next day I was out in the courter."

operating tables, so the litters were lined up, waiting their turn, while the nurses pitched in and took care of the minor surgery — cleaning wounds, digging for shrapnel, bands aging. There was no time for anesthetics except a quarter of a grain of morphine, but the wounded certainly had guts. They'd grab the side of their litter with clenched flats, and tell the nurses to go to it—it really wasn't hurting much.

"The raid had been going an hour when all of a sudden the lights went out, but in half a minute the girls had produced flashlights. I remember Peggy standing there holding a flashlight on a guy's naked back on the operating table while a doctor probed for some shrapnel in his kidney. You could see her face and those steady blue-green eyes of hers by the light reflected back up from this guy's back, and just then there was a terrific crunching bang—a bomb had landed right outside the tunnel entrance—and with it a sudden blast of air through the tunnel. It wasn't nice, and yet I don't think Peggy's hand even wobbled.

"Presently the lights came on, and we found one hospital-corps man had crawled under a bed. He wasn't even sheepish. 'You're damn right I was scared,' he said. 'Thought I was presently the lights came on that naked back had not moved. Hell of a fine, nervy girl to have in a war. Or any other time.

"But it was getting on toward New Year's, and bad news began to come from Manila. The Japs were closing in."

"But very few of them realized it in Manila," said Akers. "I was there with my boat on courier duty from December 13 until Manila fell. Staying with Admiral Hart until the seaplane took him out to join the Dutch East Indies fleet.

"You certainly couldn't criticize morale. The average Filipino had a childish belief in us. He was absolutely certain that the Americans would be there next week with plenty of equipment. Dead-sure that our American soldiers would throw back the J would be there next week with plenty of equipment. Dead-sure that our American soldiers would throw back the Japanese. Believed all the optimistic broadcasts and rumors.

"When a raid would come, of course, they were pretty excitable. We slept aboard the boat, and when the bombs started down, we were supposed to get away from the wharf and out into the bay. Sometimes people used to stow away, to get away from the bombs.

"They never lost faith, though. Right up to the end there were big dances at the Manila Hotel, and you could watch the Filipino boys in uniform, telling their girls about their heroic exploits. And there were plenty of them to tell, too.

"But over at the American Army and Navy Club, they knew what the score was. They didn't feel like dancing there. Their faces were plenty long.

"Of course the higher-up Filipinos knew the truth. If you'd see one "Of course the higher-up Filipinos knew the truth. If you'd see one with a long face, you could be sure he was a Senator, or better.

"I had a girl there—Dolores was her first name, and by American standards she was good-looking as hell. Her father was a Spaniard from Catalonia and her mother was a mestiza. She'd been elected Miss Philippines a year or so before. Fairly tall and lithe, with big black eyes and enough of the Oriental so you'd never forget her face among the other brunettes you know.

"Her father I think was a Senator, and the family had a hell of a lot of mines. They had a big colonial house in the suburbs. Usually when I was invited out she'd send a car down for me, but the first time I was coming out alone she said never mind about directions—and so it turned out. Every traffic cop I met knew just who they were and could point me on my way. So they were really big shots on the island.

"Her father knew what the score was, although Dolores didn't dream it was coming so soon. The last time I saw her, just before the Japs came in, she knew Manila had been declared an open city, but she thought that only meant there wouldn't be any more bombs. ### Famous Physician Was Gracious With Encore!

The wealthy man had cracked a rib, and a slight operation was necessary. He engaged a famous specialist.

Local doctors were excited at the prospect of a visit from a big noise, and their request for per-mission to watch the operation was granted.

When the patient came out of the anesthetic he found himself smothered in bandages. He summoned the nurse.

"What's all this?" he demanded.

"Well, sir, it was such a beautiful operation, and the applause was so tremendous that Dr. Hugo took out your appendix as an encore."

Air Raids Soften Europe for Invasion; Decisive Allied Moves Against Japan Forecast in Washington Strategy Meet; WLB Regains Authority on Wage Boosts

(RESTRUCT NOTE: When applicant are depressed to these releases, they are those of Manken Sewapapes Union's arms analysis and me seconstill of this newspaper.)

With activity against the Japs on all eastern fronts forecast by recent Washington conferences, Allied air attacks against the enemy loom large in the tactical picture. Above are shown four American-trained Chinese pilets looking over the instrument panel of a P-40, in company with Maj. Grant Mahoney of the U. S. air force in China.

OFFENSIVES:

Europe and Asia Both

Not only Allied amashes against Hitlerite Europe, but decisive campaigns against Jap-beld domains in Asia and the South Pacific in weeks to come were on the United Nations' war timetable scheduled by President Rocsevelt and Prime Minister Charchill in their Washington conferences.

That activity against Japan would be stopped up on a major scale was indicated by two developments. One was the presence at the Washington conferences of Commander-in-Chief Sir Archibaid Wavell of India, Admiral Sur James Somerville, the Eastern freet commander, and Sir Richard Peirse, the India air commander. The other was the disclosure that Admiral William F. Haltery and Gen. Douglas MacArthur had met to co-ordinate future operations in their areas. That activity against Japan would ons in their areas.

Indicative of the trend toward decisive American action was a Tokyo radio report that strong U. S. forces had invaded the Jap-held island of Aftu in the Aleutians.

Observers believed that future moves on Japan might take on a autoracker character. One prong would close in on Nippon from the east, via Halsey's and MacArthur's east, via Hallsey's and MacArthur's cumbined forces in the Pacific. The other would squeeze Japan's faink from the Indian ocean and the India-Burns front, using the conclused commands of Wavell, Semarville and Pairse. erville and Peirse.

The Allies were mixing steady progress against Hiller's hifteeric most point weapon—the submarine. Decreases in morthly shipping lowes by the United Nationa and the prependerance of ceems transported Allied munitions and supplies in North Africa at the victory finale were indicative of this. Evidence of how the Allies were successfully applying air and sex power plus grit and stout hearts against the Nazi subsea perili abounded in epic report insued by the British admirally describing how navy escent ships and Royal Canadian Air force planes had sunk or probably sunk 10 German submarines in an eight-day buttle in the Atlantic.

Characterizing the action as the biggest single 'Affled victory against U-bonts, the admiralty report said that planes, destroyers, frigates, corvettes, cutters and sloops joined in the battle continuing day and night for eight days. As many as 25 enemy submarines were in action at one time. The battle finally turned in favor of the convoy, "Some damage was suffered" the admiralty said, "but the majority of the merchantmen reached port in safety."

Together the two companies do a business of about $145,000,000 a year and their combined assets will approach $500,000,000.

Culminating negotiations and discussions covering more than 20 years, the merger was made possible by recent congressional action and by approval of the Federal Communications commission. Under the terms of the agreement, Western Union will acquire all assets and all business of Postal Telegraph and assume its liabilities and obligations, including the amount owed by Postal to the Reconstruction Finance corporation at the time of the closing of the agreement.

War Plant Building

Ordering a halt on virtually all war plant construction which cannot be completed by October 1, the War Production board announced that the nation now has enough industrial plants to produce the materials required to beat the Axis.

Meanwhile the board had directed a widespread conversion of machine plant tools and other existing facilities to the production of more urgently needed goods. Calling its action a "significant milestone in the war program," the WPB said that men and materials released by its new directives would be channeled elsewhere into the war program.

WPB officials estimated that construction of between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 in new war plants would be halted, even if it were necessary to dismantle partially completed ones. Many machine tools orders will be cancelled, and tool plants will be converted to the production of "things that shoot."

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AND INDUSTRY CONTROL
SO FAR during the war the federal government has invested between 13 and 15 billion dollars in the erection and equipment of war industry plants. These plants have been operated by private concerns working on government contracts. The National Planning beard proposes as a post-war measure that these plants be retooled for the manufacture of peace-time products and be operated by the government as a means of surmounting the after-the-war unemployment problem.
Such a move would mean the beginning of state capitalism in America.

Free enterprise as we have known

Free enterprise as we have known it in America cannot live with state capitalism. Private capital cannot be induced to compete with the un-limited funds of government. When government enters business, private government enters business, private capital quits.

In the end we would all be working for the government, if we worked at all, and there would be no more jobs than would be provided by our present system of free enterprise. The incentive that produces invention, scientific discovery and progress would be gone. We would be a completely and permanently regimented people—worker, farmer, professional man, all of us. We would be permanently subject to the direction of a bureaucratic system, as are the people of Italy, Germany and Russia.

and Russia.

American people want none of that. Such a system is not what our armed forces are fighting for, or for which the home front is willingly making sacrifices. It is not a thing we can afford to encourage, even as a temporary solution of an employment problem. Once saddled upon the country, it means the end of the system which has made America great and prosperous and given to us the highest living standgiven to us the highest living stand-ard the world has ever known. We must beware of any such expedient.

HUMAN RIGHTS

HUMAN RIGHTS AND PROPERTY RIGHTS
WHEN IN 1920 Gen. Leonard
Wood was a candidate for the Republican nomination for President, we frequently ate lunch together at the Adventurers' Club in Chicago. A plank in General Wood's platform pronounced for property rights. I insisted that human rights were of far greater importance than property rights.

erty rights.
"If you can prepare a statement for me," said the general, "which defines human rights but does not encompass property rights, I will accept your statement."

I tried, but did not succeed. Hu-I tried, but did not succeed. Hu-man rights and the right to accumu-late are inseparable. It is the hu-man right to accumulate which is the foundation of American progress. It has encouraged invention and sci-entific investigation: it has built inat has encouraged invention and scientific investigation; it has built industries; it has put the soil under cultivation. The right to own, to have and to hold, is the incentive to work. General Wood was right.

BOX OF CANDY AND BUREAUCRACY

AND BUREAUCRACY

A SMALL CHILD with whom I have established a friendship likes candy in a box, but the mother objects to the child having more than a half-pound box. In a candy store I found an abundance of the kind of candy the child is parmitted to have candy the child is permitted to have, and also a large supply of empty half-pound boxes, but none that were half-pound boxes, but none that were filled. Five young lady clerks were on duty and I was the only prospective customer in the store. But I could not buy a half-pound box of candy. I could buy the candy delivered to me in a sack. I could not buy a box. They could not put the candy in a box and sell it to me. They could send to some place a mile or more away and have a girl at that place put half a pound of candy into a half-pound box, and then sell it to me if I could wait an hour. A law, not passed by congress but created by executive decree, made it unlawful for those gress but created by executive de-cree, made it unlawful for those clerks to put candy in a box. We are today regulated by some 40,000 such executive decrees. That is our modern bureaucratic democracy.

I sighed (a little enviously) and said to myself: "This can't last."

It is a strange coincidence that today, at this very same spot, representatives of the United Nations are gathering to try to write the prescription for the third freedom—freedom from want.

This gathering isn't concerned with summer resorts de luxe although it meets at one. It is concerned with the proposition: We must raise the standard of living all over the globe so that the underfed over the globe so that the underfed can produce enough of their handi-work to exchange it for enough to eat—something they just never had helivre.

Blind Enabled to Weigh Articles on Audio-Scale

A new instrument known as the "audio-scale," which enables the blind to weigh even small articles accurately by sound, has been demonstrated at the American Federation for the Blind.

The idea was suggested by Miss Evelyn Watson, a blind woman. The instrument, which can be attached to any type of weighing machine, operates on the seroplane radio beam principle, giving out a different note for each different weight. It will open many new fields for the blind in war industries.

BAY windows are much in vogue BAY windows are much in vogue again. One reason for this is that modern methods of hanging curtains make bay windows more attractive than they used to be in the Gay Nineties when they were a feature of so many houses.

In those old houses the vertical lines of woodwork and wall showing between windows made the bay seem like a coop stuck on the outside of the house. Many home owners had the bays removed because, while they actually added space, they made rooms seem small and cluttered.

Today curtains are huns to com-

Today curtains are hung to cov-er both wall and woodwork around the individual windows in the bay. This brings the group of windows together as a unit and makes the hay seem a broad and spacious part of the room. The sketch at the right shows a standard fixture that allows curtains to extend beyend the window frame; but don't rush out to buy new rods. The chances are that your old rods may be extended over the wall if you wire them to hooks or staples at the upper corners of the window frames.

NOTE—If you are planning new curtains, you will want a copy of Mrs. Spears' booklet that illustrates twelve different atyles of curtains with directions for making them; including a simple home-made rigging for draw curtains. Ask for BOOK 1, and enclose 15 cents with name and address to;

No one believes that he does not have influence withthe inner-circle. And his real views toward the farmers are worthy of a re-examination as the New Deal turns its back on them. This New Deal official said:

The problem of Farm Relief will become, not how shall we re-lieve the farmer, but who shall re-lieve us of the farmer?"

And he added these expressive thoughts:

The farmer has arrogated to himself all virtue and all knowl-edge, he has voted against progress, against civilization, against the city, against science, against art. He has made and unmade Presidents in the image of Main Street; he has exhausted our soil as he will exhaust our Treasury if given half a chance. ### NOTICE TO CITIZENS

Due to a condition of health, I felt compelled to withdraw from the race for Town Council, to which position I was so kindly nominated at the recent Mass Meeting held in the Courthouse. But I take this means of expressing my appreciation to all my friends who have supported me in the three terms which I have served on the Town Council. Your supposes has been an inspiration to me, and I have tried to serve you honestly and efficiently. I also desire to thank the other officials with whom I have been associated for their cooperation, and wish them success in their continued efforts to give the Town of Marlieton an economical and reasonable Government.

The manner in which Christians face their difficulties is one of the best testimonies to the reality of their professed faith. Sometimes, however, in the midst of their trials the enemy of their souls brings discouragement—and then they need the counsel and encouragement of others.

Christians are in this world but not of it. They are passing through, wayfarers on their way to the eternal dwelling place of God. That does not mean that they are not interested in the welfare of those round about them, or delinquent in sharing the responsibilities of life, but it does mean that they are to have the pilgrim's detachment from the things of the world and the flesh. In the days of Peter, membership

II. Submissive As Citizens (2:13-18)

One of the hallmarks of Christian character is willing and gracious recognition of proper authority, whether it be in the state, in the place of employment, in the school, or in the home. He does this for the Lord's sake (v. 13), and even when that authority is in the hands of an unreasonable man.

This does not mean that the Christian

This does not mean that the Christian is to encourage or countenance tyranny and oppression, but that he is loyal to the state and to his emis loyal to the state and to his em-ployer, even though the present rep-resentative be a hard, unjust man. In all well ordered society there will be proper and effective means to correct injustice. But in and through it all the Christian shows his faith by his balavies.

Christ is our "example" (v. 21). Christ is our "example" (v. 21).
Since some have interpreted this word and the statement "that ye should follow in his steps" as indicating that we are saved by our imitation of Christ, it is well to point out that this would be quite impossible. We would have point out that this would be quite impossible. We would have to begin where He began—He was without sin (v. 22). But we have all "sinned and come short of the glory of God" (Rom. 3:23). We need a Saviour—not an example as far as

CHAPTER V

"Twelve hours before the Japs entered the town I was sent back in Manlia to pick up the remnants. I had just eighty gallons of gas to go those thirty miles—finally got back with ten. A curious thing happened during those closing hours; nobody had given orders to blow up the oil reserves. Maybe some of them belonged to private companies; it would go against a business man's grain to blow up good oil. Finally a little junior-grade naval lieutenant noticed it. He had no authority, but he gave orders he had no right to give, and presently the oil was blazing. I hear he got a Navy Cross for doing it.

the sky above. The big church, about a mile from shore, was just beginning to burn. In the harbor, boats were burning and sinking on all sides—five and ten-thousand tonners. But not a single shot was fired at the planes—which came down as low as five hundred feet.

"I went up on into the city, and everywhere people were kind and helpful. The Japs were right outside the town, and yet the store-keepers would give me anything we Americans needed without either money or a voucher—just sign a paper, that was all. They trusted us."

"I took my boat into the harbor just as the Japs were entering the city," said Bulkeley. "It was night, and we could see the town burning —a huge death-pall of smoke hang-ing above and oil six inches deep over the water. It looked like doorn hanging over a great city, and it was. Made you feel had. We stayed out there from nine o'clock at night mill about three in the morning. our fob was to destroy harbor ship-ping—so what was left of it wouldn't fall into Jap hands."

"I had to leave all my spare uni-forms in my locker there, damn them," said Akers. "I hope none of them fit."

"Watching them take over made you feel pretty sick." said Bulkeley. "We finished up and started home, to get back before dawn, now and then looking back at the fires over the water. Every time it made us "Running any kind of romance, no matter how mild, was a real problem on Corregidor. About the best place to sit was right down where we were, at the tunnel's mouth. But the road ran right in front of it, and every five minutes an army truck would barge tactlessly around the curve, shining its dimmed-down headlights right on you. Then for another three minutes you were choking with dust. If you got tired of this and tried to go for a walk, you'd hardly get started when you would realize that eleven thousand men were trying to sleep all over that little island, and if you went far, you would step on most of them in the dark, and not many of them would thank you for it. There wasn't an unoccupied square foot anywhere.

"We proved that later on when the doctor prescribed walks for me—to build back my strength, because I'd lost thirty pounds—and Peggy was assigned to go along. The troops swarmed on that island—every pond was crowded with them bathing, and I would always have to go ahead to take a look

The navy patrol bombers had planted caches of gasoline among the islands like stepping-stones, and the Admiral gave us their location. But the first step-their location. But the first step-that our part in the war plan? Yet even then it kept coming up; suppose the worst came to the worst and Lucen folded up—the whole archipeiago—even Java—what then? Then Bulkelay here hit on a real plan. When our gas was down to just what we could carry on our decks, instead of waiting around to get captured by the Jajas, we'd take our houts in China to continue the war. At first glance you'd ear that gef captured by the Japs, we'd take our boots to China to continue the war. At first glance you'd say that was cruzy—the Japanese holding must of the Chinese coast—but not the way the skipper had it thought out. He know China from the years out. not the knew there as a posture where I was there on a destroyer.

"So we staged it for the next morning, when the ward doctor would be dressing my hand at about the same time the head surgeon made his rounds. We tackled him. I made my talk, and he seemed to waver. "Tell this bird you need me, I said to the skipper. 'We really do,' said Bulkeley, but just then Peggy overheard and queered the whole thing. 'Certainly not!' she said. 'You can't let him go back to duty with his hand wide-open!' That swung him back. 'Duty!' he growled. Who said anything about duty? Two weeks of it and you'd lose your said anything about duty? Two weeks of it and you'd lose your whole arm.'

"I tried to argue—point out that if the MTB's went out on a mission, I could hold on with one arm as well as two, but Peggy had done it, and now he wouldn't listen.

"'One of these days you're go-ing to find an empty bunk,' I said. I was gloomy all that next week, but Peggy said I was a fool. That there were plenty of well, fit men to do my job. And that if I hadn't been so damned stubborn in the first place, and had got that hand treated in time, I'd never have come to the hospital, and never met her, and she would never here been and she would never here here. and she would never have been able to break up my plan to get out, so it was all my fault!

"She's always had that cute way of seeming to storm at you and dress you down, so that you ended up by grinning and couldn't stay mad at anything long.

"So it went along for another week, she leading me out for walks week, she leading me out for walks every day to get some of those thirty pounds back, and then one day we returned to find that Bulkeley had been by looking for me—said he was going out on a raid that night, up to Subic Bay looking for a Jap cruiser, that he'd waited hoping to take me, but finally had to leave.

take me, but finally had to leave.

"It set me almost crazy. If I hadn't been out on that damned health tour with a pretty girl, I wouldn't have missed the raid! So here I was while my gang was up there tangling with a cruiser, maybe getting killed, because the Japs had Subic Bay so thick with guns that it was almost suicide to go in.

"All that night there was no news. I was up at 5:30—'Any dope from the torpedo boats?'—still nothing. But at seven they said, yes, Bulkeley had come back, managed to aink a cruiser and get away, but the other boat was missing—probably lost."

"It was a job we did for the Army," explained Lieutenant Bulke-ley (describing the historic attack of his P. T. Boat in Subic Bay mentioned.) "A couple of Jap ships, one of them an Imperial Navy auxiliary cruiser with 6-inch guns had been shelling our 155-millimeter emplacements on Bataan—blasting them with heavy stuff. The major them with heavy stuff. The major them with heavy stuff. The major in charge had been wondering how to get rid of them and had phoned Admiral Reckwell, who gave us permission to tackle the job. We know they were based in Suhie Bay, probably in Port Binanga. Suble is on the west coast of Lusen, just north of Bataan. I decided to send two boats—the II boat, which was Lieutemant DeLong's, and the 34 heat, which was Kally's, now commanded by Ensign Chandler, I went along in it for the hell of it.

Persecution for Christ's sake has been the lot of believers from the first century down to 1943. Some-times it has been official, but more often unofficial, yet nonetheless se-vere and trying.

Such was the situation when Peter addressed his first epistle to the early believers who were scattered abroad (1:1). His counsel was just what they needed, and is equally helpful to us. They were to be

L Separated As Pilgrims (1:1; 2:11, 12).

In the days of Peter, membership in the church was not considered a normal or respectable thing. It marked a person as belonging to a hated sect, one which was falsely accused of many evil deeds. For example, Christians met at night, men and women together for communion service. Because they stocked of human flesh.

A revised farm machinery rationing order now enables the State USDA War Board, at its discretion, to cancel county quotas on any or all types of quota machinery. The order also gives County Farm Rationing Committees authority to set the expiration date of purchase certificates between 10 to 60 days after they are issued. Manufacturers are allowed to release larger percentages of their 1945 production for distribution under the order.

"T" Coupons Must Last Until July 25, ODT Warns

The Office of Defense Transportation at Morgantown this week noti-fied all County War Board chairmen that a reduction of 40 per cent in transport rations would be effected by the extension of second quarter "T" coupon life from June 30 to July 25. Third quarter coupons will not become valid until July 25.

The action, it was stated, was ta-ken at request of WFA and other agencies to belp meet general gaso line shortage and is part of a program to insure a supply of fuel for non-highway farm uses. Farmers who hold "T" rations therefore must cooperate by not appealing for extra "T" rations unless necessary. When appeals become necessary regular county farm transportation commit-tee procedure will apply.

FLOODS: Peril Farm Output

Ruined crops, inundated cities, damaged homes and casualties from drownings resulted from the disas-trous flood that started in Midwestern farm states and spilled south from rivers and streams flowing into the Mississippi river.

As emergency crews and troops had toiled to check the rise of flood waters and hold down damage from breaks in Mississippi river levees protecting rich farm lands and war plants, weather bureau officials at-tributed the flood to unprecedented May rairs May rains.

In Illinois alone the continuous rains had destroyed 100,000 acres of corn, wheat and oats. Other states reporting serious crop destruction were: Indiana, Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas and Oklahoma. The flood losses represented a critical threat to the nation's epochal wartime food production crusade. The damage resulted not only from crops already in, but from serious delays in plant-ing corn and other vital cereal

Washington Digest American Propaganda Strengthened by Victory

Triumph in Tunisia Furnishes Powerful Ammunition for Verbal Warfare; Axis Policy of Suppression Backfires.

By BAUKHAGE

Washington, D. C.

As this is written, America is preparing for the greatest assault on the German home front since the war began. The new offensive is made possible by two things: the fall of Tunisia which weakened the barricade of German morale, and the capture of the City of Tunis, where Africa's most effective radio station for reaching Europe is located. Because of the water-jump, the transmission from Tunis is especially favorable.

The members of the staff of the the transmission from Tunis is especially favorable.

The members of the staff of the Office of War Information who man the front in the battle of verbal warfare say that their fire power has increased tremendously with the African military victory. They explain it this way: propaganda is a strange thing. Alone, it is not a very powerful weapon—it has to be backed up by events. Germany's barrage of words that had so much to do with preparing the way for her soldiers did not really become effective until Hitler had begun to act; until he could report his successful aggression, his blitz against Poland helped against Scandinavia; his victory in the low countries bolstered his "Victory in the West"—the film of that name was widely used as defeatist propaganda.

Because of this principle, Americans

Because of this principle, American propaganda was handicapped.
Until November fifth of last year, the only concrete thing which America had to talk about was production.
But on and after that date, the attack from the radio stations in Af-rica jumped from the sniper to the machine-gun class because the enemy knew that not far from the radio station were American sol-diers. America was actually in the war, physically participating against the troops of the Axis.

Truth Pays Dividends

Two things, the experts point out, strengthen the American attack. First, from the beginning, the Americans told the truth; they didn't overshoot the mark. Second, the Germans played down the Tunisian campaign, failed to prepare the peer. Germans played down the Tunisian campaign, failed to prepare the people for the humiliating catastrophe ahead of them. And so Herr Goebbels, supposed to be past master of the art of psychological warfare, ignored one of its main thesis, namely, that it is a weapon that turns in your hands if it is forged of lies.

As Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, recently put it in an article in the spring issue of the Public Opinion quarterly—"Thanks to . . . the endeavor of the totalitarian governments to suppress all pays and all opinion express all pays and all opinion express all pays. press all news and all opinion ex-cept what they choose to give out, the truth has become a more power-ful weapon than ever before."

The American campaign now un-der way takes advantage of this fact, plus the fact that the Americans now have new and important truths to report.

to report.

There are two separate fronts: the people in the occupied countries; the enemy countries. To the former will go much of the same material as is directed at the enemy plus the warnings against premature uprisings and encouragement to the underground organizations to which the British have long been directing their broadcasts. They will be cautioned not to risk their lives until the final word is given.

Revolt in Holland

Recently, it was reported that a revolt had broken out in Holland after the prime minister of the Neth-erlands had ordered the Dutch exservicemen to resist the German order to report for internment. This was not an attempt at revolution.
Those in the know understood the prime minister's message which was in no way different from the instructions to the Frenchmen to resist the conscription for labor in Germany.
The French did resist and the whole may be before long.

To them, defeatist propaganda will be served in large doses now much more effective since they have tasted real defeat in Africa. Instead of hammering on the theme as formerly, "the Allies will win," the radio now tells them in a cool and factual statement, "the Allies are winning." The unbeatable Germans were beaten in Africa.

en in Africa.

The second line of attack is a variation of the invasion warning which now also is much more telling. No actual information can be broadcast on this subject and everything that is said is carefully checked by the general staffs but it follows the line of the President's statement after Casablanca, "We will attack the continent from the northern capes of Norway to the eastern islands of the Mediterranean"—and right now, the Germans are beginning to feel the truth of this statement.

Deadly Parallel

Deadly Parallel

Details of the surrender at Tunis and Bizerte and on the Cape Bon peninsula will be repeated. Coolly and objectively, the deadly parallel will be presented; what the German government told the people would happen; what did happen; what the German communiques said had happened; what actually happened—the "fight to the last cartridge" versus the huge stocks of ammunition captured by the Allies and the German troops marching up without guards to report to the prison camps.

So Herr Goebbel's weapon, which

So Herr Goebbel's weapon, which has turned in his hand, is given a slight push.

The Germans are brilliant students but somehow their learning always seems to fall just a little short of practical application. Listen to what Herr Hitler himself wrote in "Mein Kampf" about American and British approach in the second of the second in t ican and British propaganda in the last war which he praised highly and which he admits he used as a model for his own in this war:

"The war propaganda of the English and Americans was psychologically correct," wrote the fuehrer-to-be as he sat in jall after his first putsch. "In the beginning, it sounded crazy and impudent; later, it was no more than unpleasant; and finally, "I was halloyed. After four and a it was believed. ### Planners for the Postwar World

Never before in history have men expended as much time and money in an effort to plan a better world. Kites rise against the wind and the demonology of Nazidom has swept away the gilt and the gee-gaws of our civilization and left bare the foundations with all their potential strength and pitiful weakness. The positive forces of evil have generat-ed positive forces of good to oppose them.

At this moment more than 137 important government agencies in washington and private organizations scattered throughout the countries of the c try, not counting various state and smaller local groups "are and in research or public education on a national scale on the problems fro-ing the United States when the war ends," according to the findings of a recent investigation by the Twen-tieth Century Fund, a research or-sanization. ganization.

The interesting thing about these studies is that most of them agree on one constructive peacetime goal which is considered essential to bring about necessary reforms and that is "full employment"—in other words, a job for everybody who can and will work. The war has shown what tremendous, potential production is possible. If it is maintained, most of our other ills will fails.

POST-WAR PLANNING
RHOULD BE REALISTIC
THE TALK WE HEAR of post-war planning emissis almost entirely of impractical and impossible idealism. We talk as though America would mather the earth, would provide the brotherly love, the milk and honey the ever-abundant life that would make people of every nation happy. To attempt any such program would make people of every nation happy. To attempt any such program would make people of every nation happy. all of that policing. We can only do our part.
When the war ends, millions of people of enemy and conquered nations must be succored and fed. America cannot do all of that. We can only do our part. If we attempt more than we can do, we will but liquidate America through the bankruptcy routs. We will ruin the American people, American industry and the American government. Our impoverialment will benefit no other nation, but it will mark the end of all plans for world betterment.

Our post-war planning must be all plans for world betterment.

Our post-war planning must be along realistic lines, only flavored with such idealism as can be applied in a practical way. Only such a program can be worked out to a satisfactory conclusion. We must think of America, just as the English people will think of England; as the Russians will think of Russia.

churchill has very definitely stated that he does not intend to liquidate His Majesty's empire. That was a practical statement without any false idealism. American statesmen must consider post-war problems from that same practical view-point as they pertain to the United States. We, alone, cannot hold the idealistic bag, as all too many of our people would have us do if they really mean what they are saying. A bankrupt and dead America would not be a world asset.

PETER COMPORTS PERSE-CUTED CHRISTIANS

LESSON TEXT-I Poler $13-17; 412-18;

What shall we do? Where shall we turn? Is there no help for us? Such are the natural and understandable cries of those who bear the heavy hearthreak of persecution. God's Word has the answer, for from the very beginning the followers of Christ have had to meet that prob-

Peter is especially the aposite of comfort, and the portion now before us is rich in helpful instruction. His word to persecuted people is five-fold.

L Do Not Be Afraid-Christ Is Lord (3:13-17).

Lord (3:13-17).

By doing good the Christian will escape much suffering (v. 13), but if even then it comes, he is not to be afraid (v. 14). He is to sanctify Christ in his heart, that is, fully recognize the holiness of Christ and all that He is and can do for him. This is to be done in his heart. That means the exercise of full faith in Christ the Lord as the indwelling Presence. Who then can be afraid? Note that this is not just a subjective spiritual exercise for his own enjoyment—it will show in his "good manner of life in Christ" which will put his persecutors "to shame" (v. 16). How effectively that has worked only recently in Germany, Norway and elsewhere.

II. Do Not Be Surprised—the En-

II. Do Not Be Surprised-the En-emy Will Attack (4:12, 13).

Surprise attack is effective. Re-member Pearl Harbor! Satan is an memoer Pearl Harbor! Satan is an expert in strategy, and is eager to keep Christians in an easy and comfortable mood, so that he may strike a vicious blow when it is not expected. We best prepare to meet him when we recognize that persecution and suffering will come.

We are to bear in mind that it is not some "strange thing" which has happened; we who suffer as Chris-tians are "partakers of Christ's suf-ferings." Joy and glory are ahead. III. Do Not Be Ashamed-You Suffer for Christ (4:14-16).

Suffer for Christ (4:14-16).

Sadness and depression rest upon the one who suffers for his own evil deeds, but those who suffer for Christ's sake may be ever rejoicing. Can you not see that "the spirit of glory and the Spirit of God" are resting (v. 14) even now on some who sit in prisons and concentration camps? What a glorious picture of His grace!

It is proper to observe here that

It is proper to observe here that the believer is not to be guilty of that which justly brings the law's condemnation (v. 15). Do not fail to note the last of the list of crimes— "meddler in other men's matters."
Has not just that caused endless trouble in the church, and harmed its testimony before the world?
Let's quit meddling!

IV. Do Not Worry-He Careth for You (5:6, 7).

You (5:6, 7).

Worry! Worry! How it does crowd itself into our thinking. Yes, we know we are Christians, that we are unjustly accused or persecuted, that we are suffering for Christ's sake. That's all true, but how is it all coming out? What about my family? Will they harm my children? If I do survive will I be able to start life anew? And so on—questions without end; and soon comes the corroding touch of worry.

out end; and soon comes the coning touch of worry.

What shall we do? The answer is plain. Cast all your care on Christ

"He careth for you" (v. 7). That takes an act of faith just as it does to become a Christian in the first place, but it works.

The cure for all anxiety is right there—but it can only be reached by the path of humility. "Humble

Every glass jar in cellar, attic, or cupboard can do a job for home canning this summer. That includes jars that came filled with peanut butter, mayonnaise, and so on, if they can be fitted with a regular home-canning top to make an airtight seal, Of course, that airtight seal is important. Without it food would spoil right away.

They are the jars you will be able to they standard lide for.

Here is something you will want to watch. Some of the jars that came filled with commercial products have a shallow screw thread, even though the opening is the standard Mason inc. If you've saved the criginal screw-on tops, you can use those jars again with a new metal dise with a flowed-on rubber gasket.

Commercial jars with smaller than standard-size ejenings can be used

CHAPTER VI

"So we separated, expecting to meet at dawn. It was the last I ever saw of the 31 boat. But here's what happened to our 34 boat in what happened to our 34 boat in Subic. First, remember it was darker than hell, and the shore line was loaded with Jap field guns. None of us had ventured in there since the Japs took over. We had got in just a little way when a Jap searchlight spotted us and blinked out a dot-dash challenge, asking who we were. Since we didn't know the Jap code reply, naturally we didn't aniswer, but changed course, veering away. But the Japs were getting suspicious by now, and from over by Ilinin Point a single field piece opened up. None of it fell piece opened up. None of it fell near us—maybe they were shooting at DeLong in the 31 boat.

at DeLong in the 31 boat.

"When we were about abeam of Sueste light another light came on to challenge us—this time from a ship — maybe that cruiser. We changed course to go over and have a lock, but she was small fry—not worth a torpedo—the hell with her—we were headed for Binanga and the cruiser. the cruiser.

"By one o'clock we were off the north entrance to Port Binanga, where we were to meet DeLong in the 31 bost and go in together for the attack, and when he didn't show up, I began to be afraid something began to be afraid somethic might have happened, yet I couldn't be sure.

"But there was nothing to do but go on in alone. To make the sneak, we cut the speed down to eight knots, skirted Chiquita Island, rounded Binanga Point, and entered the little bay on two engines at idling speed. Everything was quiet, ao firing down here, and then we saw her ahead in the dark not five saw her ahead in the dark not five bundred yards away. Creeping up an her, we had just readied two torpedoes when a searchlight came and in dot-dash code she asked who we were. we were.

who we were.

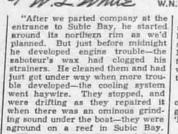

"We answered, all right—with two terpedoes—but they had hardly been fired when I gave our boat hard rudder and started away. It isn't safe for an MTB to stay near a cruiser. One torpedo hit home with a hell of a thud—we heard it over our shoulders. Looking back, we saw the red fire rising, and presently two more explosions which might have been her magazines.

"But we had no time for staring.

"But we had no time for staring, for we were into plenty trouble. One of those torpedoes had failed to alear its tube and was stuck there, clear its tube and was stuck there, just at the entrance, and was making what we call a 'hot run,' its propellers burning like hell, compressed air hissing so you couldn't hear jourself think. But worst of all, a lovpedo is adjusted so that it won't fire until its propeller has made a serialn number of revolutions—I shouldn't give it exactly, but let's say it is three hundred. After that, the torpedo is cocked like a rifle, and an eight-pound blow on its nose would set it off—blowing us all to glovy.

something propeller had to be stopped and stopped quick, or else a good sand stopped quick, or else a good sand wave slap on the torpedo's note would him us all to splinters.

when there was an ominous grinding sound under the boat—they were aground on a reef in Subic Bay.

"They rocked the boat, and finally started the engines to get themselves unatuck. But the noise now attracted the Japs, and a 3-inch gun on Ilinin Point opened up on them—splashes coming nearer and nearer. They worked frantically, finally burned out all reverse gears so that the engines were useless. DeLong gave orders to abandon ship. They wrapped mattresses in a tarpaulin to make a raft, and all got aboard but DeLong, who stayed to chop holes in the gas tanks and blow a hole in the boat's bottom with a hand grenade before he jumped. That was the end of the 31. Then he couldn't find the raft in the darkness, and being afraid to call out, swam to the beach.

"The raft had shound aff with all." call out, swam to the beach.

"The raft had shoved off with all twelve aboard at three o'clock. "He waited on the sands until dawn. Then, in the gray half-light, he picked up the tracks of nine men. He followed these until they Fearing sunrise would expose them Fearing sunrise would expose them to the Japanese, they had decided to risk a swim to the beach, where they could hide. But Ensign Plant and two men, who couldn't swim very well, decided to stay. What became of them the nine didn't know, and no one knows for sure to this day. this day.

"But the first thing DeLong did was to post lockouts, and all day they stayed in that clump, with an eye on the Jap observation planes which flew over them in relays, watching a bot little skirmish between the Americans and the Japanese on the far shore of the bay. At one point the Japa were falling back, and there seemed to be a chance that they could make a run for it in daylight, rejoining the American lines. But never was it quite possible, and in the meantime they had spotted a couple of baneas, native beats, farther down the beach.

"That afternoon Bulkeley came over to tell me the story of the engagement. When he was through, "Kelly, he said, 'we need you.'

"Let's get ahold of that doctor,' I said, 'and you tell him that.' This time it worked. The hole in my finger was still almost three inches long and about an inch wide, with some of the tenden exposed (but in a month it was healed, except that I can't move my finger joints). I had to promise them faithfully I weuld show up every other day for treatment, but the point of it was I got out of that place.

"Two days later I took the 34 boat out on my first patrol from Corregidor up along Bataan toward Subic Bay—Bulkeley, who as squadron and all hoats on patrol, Bulkeley explained to me that was the main excitement these days—to keep from being sunk by your own side—and calmly al-tered course to get out of their range, which we could tell by the light of their tracer bullets. "'Half the time those dumb das-tards don't know friend from foe,' he explained.

he explained.

"Five minutes later we saw a dim light, low in the water, and headed toward it. Was it a Jap landing barge, trying to get ashore behind General Walnwright's lines? Then it occurred to us that it might be En-sign Plant and the two other men of DeLong's boat who had disappeared in Subic Bay. They might have stolen a boat and now be headed stolen a boat and now be headed home—we couldn't take chances. So without firing we drew nearer, watching the light.

"Presently it began to blink—dots and dashes, all right, but no message that we could read. Bulkeley ordered general quarters as a precaution, and the men were crouchcaution, and the men were crouching behind their machine guns. It was about twenty-five yards away now—a queer-shaped boat, low in the water—and suddenly its light went out. went out.

"Bulkeley stood up with the mega-phone. 'Boat ahoy!' he called. He got a quick answer. Br-r-r-r-r-r! They opened on him with machine guns. It looked like a fire hose of tracer bullets headed for our cock-pit, and now they speeded.

guns. It looked like a fire hose of tracer bullets headed for our cockpit, and now they speeded up, trying to head for shore. But we were pouring the fire back at them.

"Now we could see it was a Jap landing barge, packed with men. It had armor on the bow and the stern, and kept twisting and turning, trying to keep those thick steel plates pointed toward us. Of course our maneuver was to come in from the side, and let them have it where they couldn't take it.

"All this had been going on for about thirty seconds when I heard a cry of pain from behind. It was Ensign Chandler. T've been hit,' he said. A Jap bullet had gone through both of his ankles. We pulled him out of the cockpit and laid him down on the canopy, meanwhile circling the Japs and pouring the steel down into their vulnerable sides. We could soon see we were getting them. The barge sank lower and lower in the water and presently gurgled under, while we pulled off to lick our own wounds, give first aid to Chandler, and locate any other beats in the vicinity. Surely the Japs wouldn't attempt a landing with a single barge. All we got, though, was more fire from our own shore guns—aswarm of tracers and then 3-incbers began whistling over—one of

There's a Parting There

This story, told in a letter from soldier in Africa, makes one smile:

"One of our men, posted near an African village, was on lone duty when a darky native came to his camp.

"The native was admiring the hair parting of my soldier friend. Would the white soldier make a parting for him?

"Being at a loose end, the sol-dier tried his hand at it; but, try as he would, he could not part that matted darky head. At last he got out his razor, and, to the darky's delight, he shaved a parting for him!

"Reaction to this was that early next morning there were darkies at the camp wanting shaved hair parting, sah.'"
